

Where are we going?

Sidney the Sixer leaves his house and walks east until he reaches a T junction where he turns right.

Cuthbert, meanwhile, leaves his house and at the main road turns east. He then follows the road north, east and south again taking the shortest route to meet Cyril the Second at the end of his road. Heading north, then north-east, then north,

He immediately turns east again and wishes he had brought the necessary equipment to visit the building on his left. However, he stays on the road until another road crosses it. At this moment Willy Woggle approaches from Sidney's left and as they are both going to the same place they decide to go together. They continue going west and then turn south-west at the second turning on the left. After a short distance they go south and take a short-cut through the park. They then go south again, then south-east and take the second turning on the left. Where are we?

then west they pass a place that Cuthbert's sister visits every Saturday night. They turn right and then right again and follow the road to the first side road, which they take. Having visited the shop in this road they continue in the same direction and turn north with the road. Before reaching the junction they cross over the road and then turn west taking great care to watch for traffic. They cross the side road and at the T junction they turn south and follow the road to the first turning heading north-west. At the next junction they turn north-east and then immediately north. Where are we?
